JOHN HESTER'S MURDER.

Spending $11 for a Revolver with Which to Kill his Brother-in-law, Philip Longes, who killed his brother-in-John Hester, on Thursday, seemed more at his ease than any of the police about him on Sergeant Little arraigned him in Jefferson Market yesterday. Sergeant Little said that when Longes walked into the station house he laid a revolver and a bunch of keys en the desk and said; "I wish to surrender en the desk and said: "I wish to surrender myself. I have killed my brother-in-law at 393 Bowery. Here's the revolver, and here are the keys of his store.

Jacob Cohen of 258 Bowery said that he sold the revolver to Lohges at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning for $11, after he had looked at several other revolvers, which he said would not suit. Then he got Cohen to load the revolvers for him, and asked a clerk to write his mame on the box of cartridges, and he would call for it in a day or two. Then ho went out. August Gemunder, a violin maker, occupies a shop back of the store Hester occupied. A board partition divided the two shors. Cohen told Justice O'Reilly that he had heard no guarrel in Hoster's store, and was first startled by two cries of murder at the same moment he heard the pistol shots.

Lohges said that he was 26 years old, a stove mounter, born in Pittston, Pa. "I reserve my statement," he added, "by advice of my counsel." When Justice O'Reilly committed hum without hall, he bowed his head and was led into the prison.

A well-dressed elderly man went to the Morgue yes-orday and asked to see the body. Then he sail:

No, that's not the man I'm looking for."

He would not tell for whom he was looking, but he told this story:

"Last Thursday a well-to-do man of 35, living in a town in the eastern part of Long Island, did not come home at his usual time. He had gone on prolonged sprees before. His young wife, hearing that he had taken a train for this City, started alter him and overtock him, They went to a New lork hole, and she persuaded him to remain there, and tried to bring him to themself. On Tuesday night they went to the theatre. After reaching the hotel on a pretext of changing his coat he left the room, and he has not been seen since.

"I hoped not to find his body here," said the elderly man, "but when he gets atarted he has no control over himself. His spells have sometimes ended in delirium tremens, and I havo kept visiting all the hospitals in the city in the hope of finding him."

LAST GLIMPSES OF MANDELBAUM

Pinkerton Thinks she will Have to Come Back and Look After her Property. Mother Mandelbaum's old-fashioned fancy roods store in Clinton street was open for business as senal yesterday. It is low practically certain that Mother Baum made her escape on Wednesday of last week, two days before the detectives were sent by District Attorney Diney to see whether the trio were still there. Mother Baum was seen on the street that aftermoon by her bondsman's wife. She was in company with her daughter, who was weeping copously. Shortly afterward Mother Baum and the two other fugitives were gone. The detectives say they bearies the railrual train in broad daylight, and were a good was toward Canada before ingle. The day before that Mother Baum was in the way set soffice taking about her case.

The day to be them agent the case, when we will be a saw them color, and the bay set of them even if we saw them color, and the bay set of them even if the saw them color, and the bay set of the bonds are them colored to them free to go was very strength. Their bonds left them free to go was very strength. Their bonds left them free to go was of the bonds are.

"Will Mother Baum stay in Chanda ?"

"I don't see how sin can afford to. Her property interest in tawn will suffer too much. Seven thousand dollars more of it was attached in the Scott suit to-day. I think she will come back voluntarily in January, and give herself up."

Detective l'inkerton got this despatch yesterday from Baum was seen on the street that afternoon by her the herself up."
Detective Finkerton got this despatch yesterway an agent in Canada.
"Two Mandelbaums registered at the Rossin House at

and the second of the secon

sacks, and left the hotel on the 2d inst, but were seen yesterday." The Rossin House is the finest house in Toronto, and it is evident that the fugitives are not undergoing any hardships in their fush. The name Stoude registered under is evidently a humorous contraction of "Robert Pinketton." It is supposed that the fugitives will be arrested, though it is not supposed that they can be extradified. The property of Bondsmen speckhardt and Petri has been attached. Manted --- Females.

SETTING THE FASHION.

If any one doubts who sets the fashion in the Clothing business let him observe how many imitations of our signs announcing the reduction sale were forthwith put out on Broadway. Purchasers wishing to reach headquarters can hardly mistake the place, and having once seen our stock will not forget it, for there is a tone and finish to our clothes not discoverable in most other ready-made garments. As for prices, we are in the deadest sort of earnest about selling off winter stock, and intend to keep below the market, come what may,

GENUINE, AND FOR THIS REASON BUYERS OF CLOTHING SHOULD REMEMBER, NOW THAT THERE ARE SO MANY ESTABLISHMENTS ADVERTISING ALL SORTS OF "REDUCTIONS," "MARK DOWN SALES," &C. THAT HIRSHKIND & CO WERE THE FIRST TO OFFER PROM THEIR IMMERSE SUPPLUS STOCK, BEAUTIFUL ALL WOOL CASSIMERE SUITS AT $10, WHICH WOULD READILY SELL ELSE-WHERE UNDER ORDINARY CIRCUMSTANCES, AT EIGHTEEN, TWENTY, AND TWENTY-FOUR DOL-ARS. THESE SUITS ARE NOT THE REMNANTS OF AN OLD, MOTH-EATEN STOCK, AS MOST OF THE BO-CALLED "BARGAINS" REALLY ARE, BUT EVERY GARMENT IS OF THE LATEST STYLE, AND WAS MADE FOR THIS SEASON'S TRADE. THESE BIG ALL-WOOL GASSIMERE SUITS ARE OF IDEN-TICALLY THE SAME GRADE AS THOSE SOLD FOR DOUBLE THE MONEY IN EVERY CLOTHING HOUS

BAKING POWDER.

PURE AND WHOLESOME.

It contains no injurious ingredients.
It leaves no deleterious substances in the bread as all pure grape Cream of Tartar and Atum powders do.
It resteres to the flour the highly important constituents rejected in the bran of the wheat.
It makes a better and lighter biscuit than any other baking powder. MARTIN RALBPLEISCH'S SONS.
